

FISHING

A crippled fish swims in sideways circles between the walls of hope and helpless within this abyss where the river runs cold water.
You cast your flesh-- my hunger flashes to your lures and I rise to meet you with the lusting of a shark and the given instinct of a spawning salmon.

--Tom Miller