

WINDFENCE

you, the tumbleweed,
victim of the wind
me, a fencing wire
strung between two posts

you, the drifter,
shadow on the land
me, time's erection
waiting for a freedom

and then, one day,
the iron winds of fate
blew your thorns against me that my barbs might cling to you

Tom Miller